New Koje Command Change

Gen. Colson Out As Commander Over His Promises To Reds for Dodd

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Brig. Gen. Charles F. Colson was removed today as commandant of Koje Island—three days after he made a sharply criticized deal there with Red prisoners of war for release of his predecessor.

The new shakeup in the Koje command came less than 12 hours after it became known the Joint Chiefs of Staff demanded:

1. Immediate and full clarification of circumstances leading to Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd's capture by his Koje prisoners.

2. Colson's promised concessions to Communist POW leaders which won Dodd's release Saturday night.

Gen. Mark Clark, who became Far Eastern commander Monday, was instructed to send his report to the Pentagon "by the fastest means possible."

Gen. James A Van Fleet named Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, veteran front-line infantry commander from New Orleans, to take over the turbulent 80,000-man prisoner camp.

Boatner, third general to hold the post within a week, arrived at Koje a few hours after his appointment. He speaks Chinese and is an expert on Chinese affairs.

Colson was reassigned to his former job as chief of staff of the 1st Corps in Korea.

Dodd, commandant of the island when Red prisoners captured him Wednesday, was reassigned to U.S. Eighth Army headquarters. His job was not announced.

On Koje flame-throwng American tanks and combat infantrymen stood guard outside barbed wire compounds, over some of which captured Chinese and North Koreans flew the Red flag.

U.S. defense officials in Washington took exception to the wording of Colson's agreement with the Red POWs. The Defense Department issued a statement Monday night saying the wording gave several wrong impressions.

It singled out these phrases: "Many prisoners of war have been killed and wounded by U.N. forces;" prisoners will receive "Humane treatment in the future," and there will be "no more forcible screening or any rearming of prisoners of war."

The Reds had demanded these guarantees, and many others that Colson did not promise.

The Pentagon pointed out that prisoners were killed only in "incidents at POW camps brought on by the rioting of the prisoners." Ninety POWs and one American soldier were killed in two mass riots on Koje in February and March.

The Defense Department said prisoners of the United Nations always have been "treated in accordance with the humanitarian principles of the Geneva Convention and the accepted practices of civilized nations."

Further, the statement said, no prisoners of war have been rearmed, and "there has never been any forcible screening." It said Colson probably was referring to Communist attempts "to prevent other prisoners from expressing their free will." One high Washington defense official said all screening was halted two weeks ago.

The U.N. Command said the screening disclosed that only 70,000 of 170,000 prisoners of war and interned civilians wanted to go to the Communist side when a truce is signed. This deadlocked truce negotiations.

The 70,000 confirmed Communists are on Koje.

Reporters arriving on Koje Monday reported the prisoners were in command of their own compounds. U.N. guards stay outside.

Food Price Ceilings Will Be Boosted Soon

CLEVELAND (AP) — Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall confirmed today food price ceilings will be boosted soon.

Arnall said that within the next few days the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) will increase margins on some grocery items. This, in turn, will hike prices to consumers.

In a speech prepared for the annual convention of the Super Market Institute, the price chief said super markets and food chains had asked OPS to study [illegible] to see whether food prices should be raised.

Railroad Leaders Recess Talks, Hear Steel Arguments

WASHINGTON (AP)—White House peace talks in the 3-year old railroad labor dispute were recessed today so that the three rail union chiefs could sit in the Supreme Court and hear their lawyers argue in the steel seizure case.

The engineers, firemen and conductors won the right to appear before the justices as a friend of the court. They were required to confine their arguments to the effects any court decision on the steel seizure might have on the tangled rail situation.

The railroads were seized almost two years ago under a 1916 law to avert a nation-wide strike. The three brotherhoods have asked the court to rule that seizure was unconstitutional, but the court has not yet decided whether to hear an appeal on that issue.

Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman has been in charge of the negotiations between the three unions and the carriers on a new contract. Carrier demands for changes in working rules are the No. 1 stumbling block.

The present series of talks started three weeks ago.

Calls 'Illegal' Return of Few W. U. Workers

Veep of Striking Western Union Group Hits Action

DALLAS (AP) —The Southwestern vice president of the striking Commercial Telegraphers Union today described as "illegal" the return to their jobs of Western Union employes at New Orleans, Shreveport, El Paso and Oklahoma City.

"Only the national bargaining committee in Washington has authority to call off a strike anywhere in the country," said C. M. Richards.

Workers in the four cities, including presidents of the local unions, have returned to work 100 per cent during the past three weeks, Western Union said. The latest return was at New Orleans yesterday.

W. W. Semingsen, WU general manager in Dallas, said the return to work in the four cities was sanctioned by the local union presidents, but not by the union's division and national leaders.

The Dallas union official, on the other hand, contended that workers "voted over the heads" of their local presidents in New Orleans, Shreveport and Oklahoma City. The local CTU president in El Paso capitulated with the workers, he said.

In Oklahoma City, Earl Ellis, president of the CTU Western Union local, denied his members had gone over his head.

"I took them back to work on my own volition," he said. "We didn't vote on anything. I just took them back. As to it being legal, that's Richards' opinion against mine. This is still a free country and a man has a right to go to work or quit when he likes."

Ellis agreed with Richards that New Orleans workers went over their president's head.

Oklahoma City workers left their jobs April 2 and returned April 11 but their walkout was only about 50 per cent effective, Ellis said.

Partial returns of striking employees over the nation, added to those who returned in full force, has resulted in restoration of telegraph, cable and money order service at more than 1,900 cities and towns, the WU reported today. Those 1,900 [illegible] ordinarily originate 85 per cent of all telegrams, the company said.

All negotiations on the 6-week national strike are being conducted on a national level in Washington.

Service Planes Collide In Air at Catalina

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An Air Force B-29 and a Navy fighter plane collided in the air today near Santa Catalina Island. There was no immediate report of casualties.

Public information officers at March Air Force Base, Riverside, Calif., said the only immediate information about survivors was that a parachute was sighted later.

The normal crew of a B-29 is 11. The Navy F-4-U, is a fighter usually carrying only the pilot.

WSB Into Oil Strike For Talks

Orders a Series Of Informal Board Discussions on What To Do Over Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) stepped into the 2-weeks old oil strike today by ordering a ser ieos nifday by ordering a series of informal board discussions on what to do.

The WSB, which had called in representatives of more than a score of oil companies and a coalition of striking unionists, held a 5-minute formal session.

Seek Means of Settlement

WSB Chairman Nathan L. Feinsinger read a statement saying the board would "explore ways and means of expediting settlements of the remaining disputes in the national interest" and would check into scattered agreements already reached in the field.

He said the board is of the "unanimous opinion that disputes still unsolved can be settled through collective bargaining."

The unions have refused to call off the strike, which has affected about one-third of the nation's oil production, but agreed to attend today's WSB meeting.

When Feinsinger finished his statement, J. J. McKenna, who represents a number of Independent unions, said he didn't like the way the board was going about the situation and threatened to leave, saying he would be at his hotel "if anybody wants me."

Won't Go to Work

"Our men are not going back to work until we get a settlement," McKenna said. "That's for sure."

However, McKenna stayed at the WSB offices after O. A. Knight, president of the CIO Oil Workers and leader of the union coalition, urged him: "Don't pull away from us now."

Feinsinger said the board, in its study of ways to settle remaining disputes, would also spend the rest of the day, perhaps tomorrow, exploring the status of collective bargaining negotiations now in progress in the unsettled disputes.

Slavs Formally Protest Allies' Plan In Trieste

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Yugoslavia today lodged a formal diplomatic protest against the British - American - Italian agreement granting Italy limited administrative powers over civilian affairs in Zone A of Trieste Territory. Zone A is occupied by British and American forces.

The protest note was handed to U. S. Ambassador George Allen and A. Duncan Wilson, counsellor of the British Embassy, by Deputy Foreign Minister Veljko Vlahovic.

The contents was not made public immediately, but it was understood that the note alleges the agreement, reached in London recently, is illegal under terms of the Italian Peace Treaty.

The semi-official Yugoslav News Agency reported meanwhile that the government is preparing unspecified counter-measures in Zone B, the Yugoslav-occupied area. Such measures could include Yugoslavia's formal annexation of Zone B.

(British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons in London yesterday the London agreement did not prejudice an ultimate settlement of the question of whether Yugoslavia or Italy will get Trieste Territory. He said Italy still would exercise far less authority in Zone A than Yugoslavia already has appropriated to herself in Zone B.)

President Truman was reliably reported waiting on the outcome of the meeting before deciding whether to invoke national emergency provision of the Taft-Hartley Act. These include an 80-day court injunction against continuing a walkout.

Air Force Unveils Secrets Of New All-Jet Bombers

YB-60 Biggest of Two Heavy Planes; And YB-52 Strato Fortress Goes Into Production By Boeing at Seattle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force today took the "classified" label off its two new all-jet heavy bombers, the YB-52 and the YB-60.

It also:

1. Disclosed dimensions which show that the YB-60 is somewhat the larger of the two.

2. Released pictures showing hitherto unpublished details.

3. Announced that the YB-52 Strato Fortress is going into production at the Boeing Aircraft Co. plant in Seattle.

No announcement was made as to production plans for the Convair YB-60, which was built by Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Co. at Ft. Worth. Still secret are the weight and speed, range and other performance details of the giant aircraft.

Will Become 'B'—Not 'Y'

The letter "Y" before the B-52 and B-60 designates the planes as developmental. They can be described as simply the B-52 and B-60.

These are the dimensions of the two global bombers:

Wing span — the YB-60, 206 feet; YB-52, 185. Because the wings are swept back, the span is less than the 230 feet of Convair B-36, largest bomber now in operation. The B-60 is a development of and improvement upon the B-36.

Length — B-60, 171 feet; B-52, 153; B-36, 162.

Tail Height — B-60, 50 feet; B-52, 48; B-36, 46¾.

B-60 Faster Than B-36

The B-36 has four jet engines, six piston engines, a gross weight of 358,000 pounds, a range of 10,000 miles and a top speed of more than 435 miles an hour. The B-60 may be considered faster than this.

Both new bombers are powered with eight new Pratt and Whitney J-57 jets, believed to be the most powerful jet engines in the world.

On the B-52, they are mounted in pairs on sharply raked-forward pods under the thin, high-speed, swept-back wings.

The B-52 [illegible] an unusual double-tandem landing gear composed of eight main wheels, with small protection wheels retracting into the wing tips.

Five Years Experience

The B-52, although an entirely new design on which work was started in 1946, leans heavily on data gained from five years of building and flying the Boeing B-47 Stratojet, known as the world's fastest bomber.

Like its predecessor, the B-29 Superfortress of World War II, the B-52 was ordered into production before the completion or flight of a prototype test airplane.

The YB-52 made its first flight at Boeing Airfield, Seattle, April 15 and has completed its first phase of testing.

The YB-60 made its first flight at Carswell Air Force Base, Ft. Worth, a few days later.

Germ Warfare 'Hoax'

OTTAWA (AP)—Foreign Secretary L. B. Pearson told the House of Commons yesterday the Communists' germ warfare allegations are fantastic fraud and a "clumsy hoax."

Kem Opposes End to Probe Of Grain Deals

Suggests Other Cities May Have Interesting Data

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kim (R-Mo) suggested today senators inquiring into shortages of government-stored grain and other matters might turn up some interesting things in half a dozen cities or more.

He mentioned St. Paul, Denver, Atlanta, Chicago, San Francisco, Kansas City and New York.

Kem was protesting plans to wind up an Agriculture Department probe this week.

He made the protest as the Senate Agriculture Committee, which has been conducting the probe, met to hear Agriculture Department officials on their procedures in handling misconduct and wrongdoing.

Chairman Ellender (D-La), who had said earlier he hoped to wind up the hearings this week, replied he did not think the group ought to go into "every little case just to keep this before the public."

Kem said he had been told by the government's General Accounting Office (GAO) it was making investigations of the department's offices in many other cities including St. Paul, Denver, Atlanta and Chicago and that these would produce information "well worth hearing."

He also said he wanted to look into the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) offices in San Francisco, Kansas City and New York. The CCC is an Agriculture Department agency.

"There is ample reason to believe there is considerable of interest in each of those offices," he said.

The committee had made only a "cursory examination" of the CCC offices in Dallas but has found "there's gold in them thar hills," Kem said.

The committee also left up in the air the question of whether Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan would be called this week.

He had been scheduled to appear Thursday at his request to reply to some of the charges in the investigation.

But Paul Cotter, the committee counsel, said he had been advised Brannan wanted to [illegible] tomorrow afternoon, that he had another engagement Thursday morning.

Mrs. Mos Receives Treatment for Injuries

Mrs. Henri F. Mos, 810 State Fair Blvd., was admitted to the Bothwell Hospital this afternoon for severe injuries received at her home shortly after noon.

Henri F. Mos, her husband, was picked up by Sgt. W. S. Barton and State Trooper Pete Stohr and taken to the office of Acting Prosecuting Attorney Harold Bamburg and later to the county jail where he is being held for investigation.

Mrs. Mos left her home for aid, going to the Richardson Grocery store next door. From there she was taken to the hospital in the Gillespie ambulance where Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher rendered medical treatment.

Defense Says Steel Seizure Was Truman's Only Method Of Continuing Mill Operation

Murray Says Steel Industry Violated All 'Decency' Rules

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philip Murray said today America's steel industry has violated "all of the rules of common decency" in refusing to sit down and write a new wage contract with the CIO United Steelworkers Union "and we will not let them get away with it."

Murray shouted the statement in his opening address to the union's sixth biennial convention. The 3,000 delegates representing the 1,100,000 stood up and cheered.

Murray, president of the steelworkers and the CIO, did not say flatly the union would go out on strike again but the possibility of such action was implied in his words.

He said that since the union began wage contract negotiations last November —"a long, long time ago," — the industry consistently has refused to bargain.

"This positive fact," Murray said, "stands out as one of the most historic points in these long proceedings: that is the industry stubbornly refused to negotiate even at the personal request of the President of the United States."

Murray, in tones sometimes both scarcastic and bitter, traced highlights of the current steel dispute. He said the union was prepared to strike Jan. 1, when the present contract expired, but remained at work and agreed — as the industry also did — to present the case to the Wage Stabilization Board for settlement.

"This union did what the President told it to do," Murray shouted. "The industry has refused to abide by the rules of the game adopted for the guidance of all by the government."

Murray pinpointed the background of President Truman's order of March, 1951, in which the chief executive gave jurisdiction to the WSB in all dispute labor cases certified to it.

"We have accepted the stabilization board recommendations even if it isn't as much as we wanted," Murray asserted. "But the industry flatly has refused to accept this recommendation.

"I say the industry can go to hell —and I mean it."

Again the delegates rose in unison and shouted, applauded, whistled, cheered.

The teelworkers union claimed that the steel industry has refused to sign a new contract with what the union terms an adequate wage increase because of:

1. The industry's "insistence on an inflationary and undeserved price increase."

2. The Taft-Hartley Act.

The charges were embodied in a detailed 88-page report presented by the USW officers at the opening of the union's sixth (biennial) constitutional convention. Approximately 3,000 delegates representing 1,079,703 steelworkers are here for the five-day policy-making conclave.

Nearly one-fifth of the report dealt with the Taft-Hartley Act "and how it has operated to stifle labor's rights," as the union put it.

In the report, Philip Murray, steelworkers president and national CIO head, and the other union officials strongly attacked Taft-Hartley:

"United States Steel and other companies were encouraged to stall in the negotiations because they felt that the President would be forced to invoke a Taft-Hartley injunction against the union and prevent the union from striking for 80 days . . . .

"Even though it was not invoked, the possibility of a Taft-Hartley injunction played an important role in spurring on the steel companies to defy their legal obligation to bargain honestly with the union."

The report asserted that "repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act is one of the top priority goals of the steelworkers and of all organized labor."

Concerning the demand by the steel industry for a price increase, the officers' report stated, "The industry demanded a price increase in excess of the amount to which it was entitled under the law, and which would have destroyed the price stabilization program, as a prelude to making any offer to the union."

The report omitted any specific mention of federal seizure of the steel industry. Murray publicly has taken the stand that the legality of seizure is now before the Supreme Court and that any comment would be presumptuous.

Menefee Firm Gets $587,734 Contract For Road Project

The W. J. Menefee Construction Co., Sedalia, was awarded a $587,734 contract by the Missouri State Highway Department at the opening of bids in Jefferson City Monday for road work over Missouri.

The Menefee company bid on the Franklin County project of 4.8 miles of grading, bridge and 24-foot concrete pavement, southwest and northeast through St. Clair to provide a four-lane, divided pavement.

The Thomas A. King Construction Co., Warrensburg, got a $34,824 project in Saline County. It is .2 mile grading, 99½ foot grade separation over the GM&O Railroad, and surfacing, in Mt. Leonard. It is on route 127 (B).

Would Outlaw Industry Wide Bargaining Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—An industry member of the Wage Stabilization Board said today industry - wide bargaining should be outlawed by Congress and the board's powers in labor disputes should be abolished.

George W. Armstrong Jr., told the House Labor Committee that bargaining between labor and management for an entire industry led to industry-wide strikes.

At the same time, Armstrong contended in effect that the WSB itself should be abolished if it is permitted to retain its authority to make findings on labor disputes along with administering wage stabilization.

If the board continues to exercise its dispute function, he said, it made "very little difference" whether it is an all public board or whether its present tri-partite make-up of labor, industry and public members is continued.

Should it continue its powers to enter into labor management disputes, "then there shouldn't be any members at all," Armstrong declared.

Armstrong, president of the Texas Steel Company, was before the House Committee investigating the WSB's operations and especially its handling of the steel wage case.

Armstrong declared in a written statement the WSB has stimulated labor-management troubles and substituted its own powers for the Taft-Hartley Law.

Reds Charge UN Plane Kills Truce Talker

Accuse Allies Of 'Barbarous' Treatment of PWs

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Communist truce negotiators charged today an Allied plane killed a member of their delegation and accused the U.N. Command of treating prisoners of war in "barbarous medieval" fashion.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, top U.N. negotiator, called it "a vicious propaganda blast to widen the breach between us."

The Red charges were voiced by North Korean Gen. Nam Il at a full-dress armistice session. He said an Allied plane strafed a Red truce convoy Monday. Such charges are usually brought up at a lower level. The Allies said they would investigate.

Nam spoke 31 minutes of the 35-minute session. Much of his talk was devoted to prisoners, the key issue blocking an armistice. But he did not mention the capture and release of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd by Red prisoners of war on Koje Island.

When Nam as finished Joy said:

"For 12 consecutive days we have met at your request. The only valid reason for holding these plenary sessions is to attempt to reach an armistice. Your side, however, continues to utilize these meetings solely as a device by which to put your vicious propaganda before the world.

"These propaganda statements of yours are calculated not to facilitate agreement but to widen the breech between our sides.

"There is one fact that you are not willing to face or do not understand. The United Nations Command's compromise proposal is firm, final and irrevocable."

The key to that proposal is the U.N. insistence on voluntary repatriation, under which only 70,000 prisoners and civilian internees would go back to Red rule. There are 170,000 in U.N. POW and internment camps.

Nam Il charged that two riots at Koje in which 90 prisoners were killed in February and March "resulted from the attempts of your side to force our captured personnel to refuse repatriation."

Truce delegates agreed to another session Wednesday.

Neal Reyburn Given Bishop's Service Medal

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Nine Episcopal laymen were cited last night for distinguished service in a ceremony at the 63rd annual convention of the Western Missouri Diocese.

Those who received the bishop's medals from Bishop Edward R. Wells were Lorren W. Garlichs and Robert B. Hillyard, both of St. Joseph; Neal O. Reyburn, Sedalia; and W. Capen Shanks, David T. Beals, George M. Hayward, Benjamin C. Howard, William H. Scarritt and Laurance S. Staples, all of Kansas City.

Bishop Wells recommended a diocesan policy commission to study the need for building churches in untouched areas of the diocese; a revolving fund for missions in West Missouri, establishment of a home for the aged and a conference center for the church.

Main Arguments Wound Up Today Before High Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—All arguments were completed and the Supreme Court took the steel seizure case under advisement at 1:32 p. m. (CST) today.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Main arguments in the steel seizure case wound up before the Supreme Court today with the administration contending "we are at war" and seizure of the steel mills was the only way President Truman could assure their continued operation.

Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman, in likening the present international situation to war, said the nation's very existence is threatened.

Scornfully, he contended that industry's claimed fears of "irreparable damage" from government operation of the mills are "a lot of fantastic hobgoblins."

Claims "Real Injury"

John W. Davis retorted for the steel companies: "Our property is taken away, our bargaining power is by-passed." He said that was real injury.

Davis asked the justices to uphold the decision by U. S. District Judge David A. Pine that seizure of the mills was illegal.

"We look to the judiciary to hold the balance between the powers of the constitutional functionaries," he said.

After Perlman and Davis finished the main arguments, the court turned to side issues.

The first of these was a plea by Arthur Goldberg, general counsel for the CIO Steel Workers, that the court hand down its decision at the earliest possible date.

After that the court was to hear from three of the major railroad brotherhoods on what bearing its steel decision might have on the railroad seizure.

Final Day of Arguments

It was the second and final day of oral arguments before the high tribunal on the momentous question of presidential powers under the constitution.

When the court may hand down a decision is uncertain. There is no time limit on how long the court may take.

The administration contends Truman had not only the right but the duty to take over the mills, as he did on April 8, to maintain steel production for the good of the nation.

The court listened —and asked questions — for more than three hours yesterday.

Justice Jackson Wants Opinion Written Before Being Made Public

WASHINGTON (AP)—Justice Jackson said from the bench today he will oppose handing down the Supreme Court's decision in the steel seizure case until the opinion has been written. This might mean a delay of some time.

Occasionally, to speed action on a particularly important case, the court announces a ruling and hands down the formal opinion some weeks later.

Unsolved Murder Comes Up Again In Damage Suit

KANSAS CITY, (AP) — The unsolved murder of a 14-year-old baby sitter in Columbia, Mo., is involved in a $150,000 damage suit being tried in federal court here.

Capt. Robert Mueller, an Air Force officer formerly of Columbia, brought the suit against Sheriff Glenn Powell and Deputy Sheriff Julius Wedemeier of Boone county for alleged false arrest.

The suit originally named Stanley Ginn, a Columbia attorney, as another defendant and asked $300,000 damages. Judge Albert L. Reeves has ruled that Ginn should be dismissed as a defendant.

Mueller was a student at the University of Missouri at the time of his arrest May 4, 1950. The baby sitter, Janet Christman, was raped and slain at the home of Mueller's friends, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edward Romack, two months before.

Mueller testified he was held in custody 21 hours after his arrest, was questioned all night and then was taken to Jefferson City for a lie detector test.

Mueller said in cross-examination that his principal objection was the length of time he was held.

William E. Kemp, defense attorney, asked why the suit was filed, and Mueller said it was to clear his name of any connection with the crime.

Congressman Has Unique Reason For Putting Wife On Government Payroll

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON — Congressmen who put their wives on the government payroll have dreamt up various excuses for this type of nepotism, but the excuse of Congressman Ernest Brablett, California Republican, takes the prize over all.

He claims it's necessary to have his wife around to make sure Communists don't sneak into his office and steal his secrets.

In a letter to his constituents, Bramblett warns ominously:

"We know that Communist agents are everywhere around us. They're in every strategic place in the nation, particularly so in California.

"They are thriving on the alarming number of security leaks caused by highly recommended, but lonely, or homesick government secretaries talking to unsuspected 'friends' in Washington.

"In fact, it has reached the point that you don't know who can be entrusted with confidential data and who can't."

However, Bramblett is sure his wife isn't a Communist, so he confides: "I had to resort to taking Mrs. Bramblett out of our home, away from the children, enlisting her help to handle matters of a confidential nature ,to escape this problem on my staff."

The suspicious congressman neglects to explain what secrets he has in his possession that the Kremlin is plotting to steal. As a member of the House agriculture committee, he has access to nothing more top secret than the latest cure for chicken lice. Even these farm secrets will be safe with Bramblett, however.

"I thank goodness," he explains, "that I married an extremely capable secretary 30 years ago, because since her addition to our office, there are no worries about information leaks to the Kremlin coming from our personnel!"

Presidential Peeve Over Steel

The steel companies had no inkling of it, but President Truman came close to putting them under the command of an army general at the height of the steel crisis. What aroused the President was a dispatch he read on the news ticker that several steel companies were locking out the returning steel workers.

In a rage, Truman summoned an emergency meeting of his steel advisers, though it was already after dusk, Secretary of Defense Lovett, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, acting attorney-general Perlman and acting mobilizer Steelman dropped everything and rushed to the White House.

The President read them the news flash and announced firmly that he didn't intend to let the steel companies get away with a lockout. Perlman promptly suggested that "we get an army general to run the steel mills for the government."

Truman was irate enough to approve of the idea, but Secretaries Lovett and Sawyer warned against it. They argued that it was too drastic a step and that, anyway, an army general might not know how to run the mills.

Perlman then suggested bringing an injunction against the steel operators, forcing them to admit the workers back on their jobs. Meanwhile, more details came over the news ticker, and it turned out that the steel companies were not defying the government but expressing a worry about shutting the steel furnaces off and on. So President Truman cooled down.

Before the emergency meeting broke up, however, Secretary of Defense Lovett expressed the hope that Secretary of Commerce Sawyer would take part in the weekend negotiations with CIO Chief Phil Murray and U. S. Steel President Ben Fairless. But Steelman broke in sharply.

"This type of matter is in my hands," he declared.

Actually the labor dispute should come under the Secretary of Labor. However, Steelman has so monopolized labor problems that Secretary of Labor Tobin has considered leaving the cabinet.

Note — Only other flare-up was between Sawyer and Perlman. The secretary of commerce was peeved at the way Perlman had been making statements about the steel crisis. Since Sawyer is running the steel mills for the government, he told Perlman bluntly: "Don't commit me to any action without first clearing with me."

The acting attorney-general agreed.

Steel Workers Convention

CIO President Phil Murray, who has survived some battles with John L. Lewis, has never been on a tougher spot than today, when his own union, the United Steel Workers, opens its convention in Philadelphia.

Officially the convention is for the purpose of revising the union's constitution, but this is only a minor item on the agenda.

No. 1 issue is whether to go through with the oft-postponed strike of the nation's steel mills. Five times Murray has deferred this shutdown, originally set for January 1.

Each time unrest has increased inside the union and it is no secret that the rank-and-file are now grumbling for action.

Murray is keenly aware of this seething unrest — partly directed against himself for the many strike postponements — and is prepared to meet it before it spills over on the convention floor. He will declare near the start of the convention that he is now ready to call out the steel workers automatically if the supreme court rules against the government.

Anti-Yankee Bloc

For sometime it has been suspected, though never concretely proved, that Director Peron of Argentina was trying to build up an anti-Yankee bloc in Latin America. In Bolivia, for instance, his hand unquestionably was behind the recent bloody revolution.

Now, however, concrete evidence has been pinned on Peron, and the Argentine ambassador to Ecuador, Csay Mazzetti, has been thrown out of that country for interfering in the Eucuadorian elections.

Alias Basil Willing

By Helen McCloy

Copyright 1951 by Helen McCloy Dresser, printed through permission of the publisher, Random House, Inc. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Jack Duggan, a private detective, borrows Dr. Basil Willing's name and dies. On the same night aged and blind Miss Katherine Shaw, who was to meet Duggan at the home of Dr. Zimmer a psychiatrist, also dies. Brinsley, nephew of Miss Shaw, and Charlotte Dean, her secretary, cannot shed light on the aged woman's death or her connection with Duggan. In pursuit of clues, Basil goes to the country club where the suspects seem to congregate. There he talks to Bert Canning, who with his wife Isolda, were at Zimmer's place the night Duggan was poisoned.

XIV

BERT CANNING snipped off the end of a cigar and lighted it. "I didn't pay attention to you at Zimmer's that evening, I had no idea that you were Basil Willing and I had no idea that anybody was going to be murdered." Canning drew on his cigar "Do you like working with the district attorney's office?"

"Yes, or I wouldn't do it. Do you like politics?"

"I'm not in politics." Canning's face was expressionless as his voice. "I've never been able to understand why men in their senses become candidates for office."

"Perhaps they like power."

"Power?" Canning came as near to smiling as he ever did—a mere parting of the lips with a sour twist at one corner. "It's not they who have power. It's the men behind the scenes who get them elected."

"And you are one of those?"

"I'm not admitting anything." The stolid eyes shifted to Basil again. "But that's what I would be—if I wanted power."

"I was wondering if a man like you would kill for the sake of power."

Canning laughed harshly. "Murderers differ in detail. They kill for money or lust, fear or revenge. All sorts of things. But, essentially, they're all relieving tension. All seeking peace of mind."

"How can a man have peace of mind once he's killed?"

Once more Canning laughed. "A strong man doesn't feel remorse and an intelligent man doesn't get caught."

"Then you believe that a strong, intelligent man who had enough money to buy all the obvious safeguards could kill without being caught?"

Canning was surprised. "There are mighty few things, Dr. Willing, that intelligence plus money cannot do in the modern world." Canning twirled his glass, then took a sip. "Have you ever thought you might like to be health commissioner?"

* * *

BASIL was startled. Then he remembered the double brandies.

"That's a dull administrative job," said Basil lightly.

In the ballroom, music died. There was an influx of talk and laughter as dancers sauntered back to their tables in the bar. Canning turned incurious eyes on them. "Why don't you all come back to my place and finish the evening there?"

Basil was a little surprised to find that "you all" included Brinsley Shaw as well as his own party. Cypress and rhododendron flanked the flat-roofed house that stood squarely on the crest of a hill. Canning unlocked a side door, and showed his guests a long, low-ceiled room, gaudy as a Christmas package. There was a billiard table and while the others played and Canning was at the bar, Basil found himself beside Isolda on a green leather sofa.

Sitting beside her he had his first good look at her face. Under a distorting, almost Egyptian mask of eyeshadow, mascara and lipstick, it was naive as a peasant girl's — wide-spaced eyes, short nose, full lips and high cheekbones.

"We're drinking too much, Bert and I. It doesn't bother him. But it worries me because it's beginning to make me fat. And I can't stop. That was the first reason I went to Dr. Zimmer." She caught her breath and paused. "Please don't tell Bert I'm a patient of Zimmer's. He thinks Zimmer is just a friend of mine. I never meant to tell you but liquor makes you indiscreet."

"Has Zimmer helped you?"

* * *

"NOT very much. He says alcohol supplies all the energy I need so the food I eat is all stored up in my body as fat. But it's hard to live with Bert and not drink."

"What was your other reason for visiting Dr. Zimmer?" queried Basil. "You said that drinking was only the first reason."

A look of fuzzy calculation came into her eyes. "I don't know what I said. What I need is another drink." She rose laboriously and walked with precarious steadiness toward the bar.

After a few minutes he crossed the room to the only door that led to the rest of the house, hoping there were no stairs or other booby traps for her unsteady feet. Isolda had seemed near collapse.

He found stairs and descended in darkness. Evidently the house was built against the side of a hill with the game room on the upper level. At the bottom he groped for a switch and found one. Light blazed.

The room was empty. Some quality in its stillness disturbed Basil. He stood looking about him. It was what a modern architect calls the "living-dining area." Inside there were no partitions that reached the ceiling. There were merely built-in cupboards, or, rather, "storage spaces." No wonder Canning and Isolda were a little tired of each other. Perpetual intimacy was forced inexorably upon the inhabitants of the house.

All he heard as he stood there was the moan of a hoot owl just outside. "Room" was not the right term for this vast space. Every outside wall as a huge plate-glass window.

Then Basil heard something—as if a heavy object had fallen to the floor.

Steel Dispute, Like Flypaper, Tangles Up All Who Touch It

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The steel dispute has become a kind of fantastic flypaper entangling everyone and everything that touches it. Now even the Supreme Court's fingers are stuck in it.

The glue started to spread when bargaining broke down between the mill owners and the CIO steelworkers. At once the government's mediators moved in to get both sides together. They got stuck.

Then came President Truman, who's really tangled in it, and after him the Wage Stabilization Board, Congress, the U. S. District Court and the Court of Appeals. Now the Supreme Court.

This may turn out to be one of the most vital decisions given in the Supreme Court's history—if it rules directly on a President's power to seize private property when he says there's an emergency.

But the court has alternatives. It can act in a number of ways which fall short of the momentous opinion on presidential power. Still, the nine justices know whatever they do will affect the country.

If they decide the Constitution won't permit a President to take private property, even, in emergency, President Truman will have to turn the mills back to the owners.

That will almost certainly mean an immediate strike by the workers. They're working now because, since the government has the mills, they are in effect government employes.

But if the owners get their mills back and the workers strike, it's hard to see how Truman can then any longer avoid using the Taft-Hartley Act which he says he despises. That would only delay another strike for 80 days.

Further, if the court rules against presidential seizure in this case, it will have to take responsibility for the unforeseeable future when some other President, in an emergency, thinks seizure of some kind is necessary but feels helpless to act because of this court's ruling.

That's one side of it. The other side is just as serious. This court may open the door for some future presidential tyrant to seize property and undermine the government if it rules now that the chief executive has special even though unwritten constitutional authority to take private property.

If the court lets the President hold the mills and raise wages, the mill owners, once they get their property back, never again will be able to persuade the workers to accept less pay than the government suggests.

But if the court lets the President keep the mills but says he can't raise the pay, it has created another situation: Will the steelworkers then continue working, even though the government is their employer?

Student Body President Is Girl Whom Classmates Secretly Gave Assistance

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Every class that enters Woman's College of the University of North Carolina here adopts a project.

In 1948, the class of '52 voted to maintain a girl in school. So for four years the members peddled stockings, sold stationery and pitched carnivals to raise the fund.

The money went to Dr. Eugenia Hunter, who, with other faculty members, secretly selected "a deserving girl, of high promise and strong character" to receive her classmates' help.

With graduation drawing near, Dr. Hunter reported that the class fund had been properly invested. She called upon the president of the student body to add some details.

Said black - haired, blue - eyed June Rainey, student body president: "I am the girl."

Knife and Fork Club Speaker Friday, Authority on Balkans

Probably no man in the United States knows more about the conditions in the Balkans than does Imre Kovacs, writer, lecturer and all around good fellow, who will be the guest of the Sedalia Knife and Fork Club at its next regular meeting which will be held on Friday, May 16 at the Bothwell Hotel.

This well-known speaker comes to the local organization with a long record of successful appearances behind him. And he has been extremely popular with Associated audiences, often being sought for return engagements.

Mr. Kovacs was educated in Hungary, that part of it which is now enjoying (?) the liberation and enlightenment as provided by the Kremlin for all the unfortunate citizens of Yugo-Slavia, and later at Yale and the Juilliard School of Music. He is an American citizen and speaks excellent English.

He has made a life-long study of European problems, with special attention to those of the Balkans and what he has to say is of the greatest interest and importance, for he clearly shows that what happens in Budapest today may affect all of Europe tomorrow and our own Middle West by the end of the week.

There is no public figure in the United States more sincerely and intelligently dedicated to the American way than Mr. Kovacs. He has seen the drastic and fatal effects of "liberation" as it is practiced by the proponents of the "liberal democracies" of eastern Europe.

Mr. Kovacs might have been a very successful singer had he so chosen. He has a fine bass-baritone voice and an excellennt musical education. On the platform he is a commanding and an attractive figure. However, he chose the lecture platform to the concert stage and what was the latter's loss was surely the former's gain.

Angry Youth Kills 4 With Cop's Revolver

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 20-year-old Negro told police today he didn't mean to shoot three bus passengers and a policeman to death on a crowded bus.

"I was just shooting to scare," police quoted Lawrence Goldsby as saying. "Then I couldn't stop shooting."

Earlier in the afternoon, he said, he drank a quart of wine and two cans of beer in a tavern.

Goldsby, unemployed, grabbed a gun from Patrolman Eugene D. Stinchcomb's holster yesterday during the evening rush hour.

Stinchcomb, who was 55, had boarded the bus after the bus driver complained Goldsby was singeing the hair of a woman passenger.

Then Goldsby shot Stinchcomb and two women passengers, one the woman whose hair he had singed. A stray bullet killed a man passenger. All of the dead were white.

Charged with first degree murder today and hurried into Municipal Judge Louis Petrash's court, Goldsby screamed: "Mercy — mercy — have mercy on me!"

The extreme penalty for murder is death in Ohio's electric chair.

As Goldsby finished shooting among the passengers jammed into the Euclid Avenue bus, his weapon clicked empty. Then three men overpowered him and beat him savagely.

One of the three, Ted Connors, 24, gave this report:

"I saw Goldsby grab the cop's gun, whirl and shoot the girl whose hair had been singed.

"She collapsed. I dived back of another seat and heard five shots.

"A fellow had grabbed Goldsby. I went up and held him around the neck and slugged him with my fist."

While the men pinned the slayer in the driver's seat and beat him, the 60 to 80 terrified bus passengers crouched behind seats, scrambled through windows, or pushed toward the closed doors.

Survey Finds How People Pick a Church

NEW YORK (AP)—Why do you belong to a certain church?

It may be because of your financial position, the section of the country you live in, the hymns your parents sang, or it might be just habit or denominational pride.

In a report of a special study of the question, the Commission on Faith and Order of the World of Churches cited these and other "non-theological" reasons for divisions in church affiliation:

1. Geographical factors. If a certain church is handy in your part of town, or predominates in your region of the country, that may be why you belong to it. Geographical separations also have led to development of regional customs within a church, and caused breaks.

2. Social, economic and political factors. People tend to join a church whose members have a similar position in these respects to themselves.

3. Discrimination. When certain groups have found themselves unwelcome in a denomination because of race, national origin or language, they often have formed separate churches.

4. Denominational sentiment and loyalty, not connected with any theological differences, keeps some church groups apart.

The report also cited various historical reasons for separation, including the demands for freedom of religious expression by Christians confronted with persecution or compulsions by church or state.

While many church divisions arose originally from differences in belief, the report said, these differences in many cases have disappeared, but the divisions are often perpetuated by non-religious factors.

"Christians, like all others, often act both individually and collectively from unconscious motives," the report said. "The tendency of human nature is to rationalize decisions which are taken on quite different grounds.

"Within the church, that means offering theological justification for divisions which in fact have been caused, at least in part, by quite other factors."

The report is to be submitted to a world conference on faith and order in Lund, Sweden, next August. Most of the council's 158 denominations in 43 countries will be represented.

Noting that "certain tendencies in the modern world may be drawing the churches together," the report says such action is "not necessarily true unity." It adds:

"In a world of competing political, ideological and religious blocs . . . there is a great pressure on the churches so to organize themselves as to be able to make their influence felt as a counter political and ideological force."

Smith-Cotton Tigers Win Baseball Title

Smith-Cotton High School Tigers won the district tournament at Kansas City Monday night by defeating the North Kansas City Hornets 6-5 in a preliminary game to the Kansas City Blues and Louisville Colonels game. They now will represent this district in the state tournament of high schools to be held at Sportsman Park, St. Louis, opening May 22.

A well executed ninth inning squeeze play paid dividends to the Sedalians. Billy Dey obliged Harold Klein, Hornet relief hurler and sent his offering deep in the outfield for a double, then advanced to third on Carl Miller's single. Larry Mines went to the plate and with one out, laid down a perfect bunt to score Dey and the winning run.

North Kansas City started the scoring with one in the first; put over two more in the third and then added a final pair in the fifth on a single, a walk and three errors.

The Tigers scored one in the third and that was as good as they could do until the last of the seventh when they rallied the hard way and scored four runs. Sonny Thomas walked, Buck Bennett singled, then Billy Dey walked to load the sacks. "Skip" Schulz rapped out a single to drive in two runs then Carl Miller doubled to knot the score and send the game into extra innings. The rally died out as Larry Mines grounded out, Schmidt and Lane fanned.

In the top of the ninth Schulz, the Tiger starter, walked the first batter. Bill Arnold was called upon to take over and he retired the side.

Miller led the Tiger hitting with four for five and Dey had a 2 for 3. Fuson led the Hornets with three for five.

The score:

Schlitz Leaders Play K of C Here At Center Park

The Schlitz Leaders will be host to the Marshall K. of C. softball team on the Center Park Diamond tonight. Game time is called for 8 p. m. and it is the first meeting of these two teams this season.

A proposed game scheduled between the K. of C. and the Leaders last week was postponed because of weather conditions. The game tonight will have no bearing on the league play, but a good game is anticipated.

The game is more or less to "feel out" the strength of the other and at the same time to get in some practice playing before the league opens. Both teams were league leaders last year.

Blues Humbled By Louisville 19-7 Last Night

By The Associated Press

Only one game separated Kansas City, Louisville and Minneapolis in the white-hot American Association first division jockeying Tuesday.

The Milwaukee Brewers, idle Monday night, lead by a two-game margin over Kansas City. But the Blues are only one-half game ahead of Louisville and one game on top of Minneapolis both winners Monday night.

Louisville battered Kansas City 16-7 to snap the Blues four-game victory chain and hand them their most humiliating defeat of the season.

Baptist Team to Play Two Games This Week

The East Sedalia Baptist Church softball team, composed of members of the Ready Sunday school class, will play two games this week. # 'Sweating Out' Week In Majors Sees Teams Cutting to 25 Men

Browns Have One Of Biggest Lists To Chop Way Down

NEW YORK (AP)—This is "sweating out" week in the major leagues.

By midnight Thursday, May 15, the 16 clubs, with the exception of those carrying recently returned service men, must shave their rosters to the required 25-player limit.

Four teams, Washington, the Philadelphia Athletics, Chicago White Sox and Cincinnati, already have trimmed their squads to the prescribed 25.

The St. Louis Browns, who yesterday acquired second baseman Cass Michaels from Washington and entered a claim for Stubby Overmire of the New York Yankees, may have the biggest roster to chop. If they obtain Overmire, who will be released by the Yanks, the Browns will have 30 players. They can carry 26 because pitcher Dave Madison is a service returnee.

St. Louis gave up pitcher Lou Sleater and infielder Fred Marsh for Michaels. The Browns also have a couple of trades on the fire and may trim their roster that way. If no deals are consummated the following Brownies face the ax: first baseman Hank Arft, Gordon Goldsberry or Dick Kryhoski, infielder Stan Rojek and outfielder Earl Rapp.

Three other clubs, the Brooklyn Dodgers, Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phillies, are over the limit but will not have to cut down because their personnel includes recent returnees from the armed forces.

The Dodgers have 27 players including outfielder Dick Williams and pitcher Billy Loes, who were discharged from the service in the past year. Williams' year will be up, however, on May 29 and the Dodgers must release one player at that time.

Boston also has 27 on its squad. The two extras permitted are rookies Ed Mathews and Phil Wisenant. Mathews' year of grace ends on July 11 and the Braves will be forced to lope off one man on that date.

The Phils are carrying 26 players including lefthander Curt Simmons, who returned to the team at the season's start following a tour Army duty.

Detroit also will be allowed to carry 26 players because pitcher Art Houtteman was in the Army last year.

The New York Yankees reduce their numbers to 26 yesterday. Besides releasing Overmore, the Yanks optioned Andy Carey, $60,000 bonus third baseman, and pitcher Art Schallock to Kansas City. In addition, third baseman Tom Morgan are service bound but their reporting date is unknown. To get down to the player limit the Yanks may send out Jim Brideweser or one of two veteran first basemen—Johnny Hopp or Johnny Mize.

B. J. Chiefs To Practice This Wednesday Eve

The Sedalia Chiefs at present are having some difficulties in getting the team whipped into shape for the coming baseball season. Bobby Brown, who is handling the aggregation, has called for all-out practice sessions on Wednesday and Friday evenings starting at 5:15.

One reason his troubles have mounted is due to the winning ways of the Smith-Cotton Tigers. No player can play with B. J. Chiefs as long as he plays with the high school. Hence several of his players are still tied up because the Tigers are going to the State Tournament.

Players are requested to be at practice on time so as to take advantage of every "spect" of light of the evening.

Team Managers Needed for The 'Little League'

The "Little League" is running into troubles in the Minor division—managers for ten teams. More than 200 youngsters are expected to report for the minors in practice play starting tonight, and the need for managers and coaches has become acute.

"Old timers" of the baseball diamond should show some interest in this activity. Their experience can well be passed on to the youngsters who need the training. The only reward offered is the satisfaction of seeing some 200 boys in good hands and enjoying themselves.

Baseball players who are willing to help in the program are requested to contact Bert Hathaway at Bryant Motor Co., or at Housel Park during practice in the evenings.

Schlitz Leaders Drop First Game Sunday

The Schlitz Leaders dropped their first game Sunday to the CMSC softballers of Warrensburg, 5 to 6, in a game played on the Center Park diamond. It was played under the lights.

It being the first game for the Leaders, the team appeared "rusty" in spots but is shaping into a strong ball club. The game was more of a practice tilt for the Sedalia team, enabling them to get into shape for the league play which is coming up.

Ottinger was on the CMSC mound with Murray behind the plate. Sanders hurled for the Leaders with Swisher on the receiving end.

Tuesday night the Leaders will cross bats with the Marshall C. of C. at Center Park. Game time has been set at 8 p.m.

A practice session for the Sedalians will be held at 5:30 p.m. today.

Ability to Win Close Contests Shows Leaders

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

Know what's keeping Cleveland, Washington, Brooklyn and the New York Giants at or around the top in the major league standings? Ability to win the close ones.

There's an old baseball adage that the team capturing the most one-run decisions usually wins the flag. That has been true down through the years. One of the reasons the Giants edged the Dodgers for the National League pennant last year was because they had a 34-21 record in one-run decisions to Brooklyn's 31-23 mark.

A check of this year's figures show that the Dodgers and Senators own the best record in close contests. Each club is runner-up in their respective leagues. The league-leading Giants and Indians are second in the one-run department.

Appropriately enough, Pittsburgh's cellar-dwelling Pirates in the National have dropped all four of their one-run decisions. The sixth-place White Sox, with a 3-6 record, own the poorest mark in the American.

The next two weeks will tell whether Washington in the American and Chicago and Cincinnati in the National, the three current surprise clubs, are really improved over last year or are mere morning glories.

Hubbard to Play Dalton Wed.

The Hubbard High School-Dalton Vocational High baseball game postponed last week because of bad weather is to be played at Liberty Park on Wednesday. Game time has been called for 2:30 p.m.

The Hubbard Tigers opened the season several days ago against the Douglas High of Columbia and won by a 14-3 score. It's a second victory the Tigers are seeking.

Bilko to Minors

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Big Steve Bilko, the St. Louis Cardinal first baseman, is going back to the minor leagues for the third time.

The club announced today that Bilko, out of action with a fractured bone in his right arm, has been optioned to Rochester of the International League subject to 24-hour recall.

Down 4 MIGs, Kill 100 Reds In War Today

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — American Sabre pilots downed four Communist MIG15 jet fighters today in two battles over North Korea, the Fifth Air Force announced.

The U.S. Eighth Army said ground troops killed at least 100 Reds in patrol skirmishes.

The Army said the U.S. 1st Marine Division is holding a sector of the Western Front near the armistice conference village of Panmunjom. It said the leathernecks moved into the area from Central and Eastern Front positions a month ago. They replaced the South Korean 1st Division, which had held the sector 18 months.

The Far East Air Forces said United Nations fighter - bombers Monday cut a short stretch of rail line near Huichon in 100 places. It was another of the Allies' new saturation bombings.

U.N. airmen working over Communist front-line positions Monday reported they destroyed 20 gun positions, a locomotive and 55 vehicles; damaged a tank, and set a fuel dump afire.

Allied warships bombarded the Eastern and Western Coasts of North Korea.

A Navy summary said the destroyer J. C. Owen and the destroyer mine sweeper Doyle laid day and night fire on enemy gun positions in the Songjin area on the East Coast.

The heavy cruiser Bremerton used her eight-inch guns for the first time, the Navy said, on Communist front-line positions near the East Coast.

The Navy in Washington said three men were killed and five wounded when Red shells hit the destroyer J .C. Owen off Northeast Korea last Wednesday.

Ike Gains In Monday Votes; West Virginia Ballots Today

By The Associated Press

The Taft - Eisenhower fight for Republican presidential nominating delegates, tightened up a little by results in Rhode Island and Wyoming, swings today to West Virginia.

The weather was fair there and a half-million ballots were expected in a primary. Features, besides hot nomination races for governor and Congress, were:

1. Election of 16-vote Republican and 20-vote Democratic delegations to the Chicago national conventions in July.

2. A GOP popularity contest between Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio and former Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota, spiced by a movement for write-in votes—which cannot count legally—for Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

Satisfied Wit 1 for Ike

Taft backers, with the solid support of the state organization were confident of capturing all 16 Republican delegates. Eisenhower forces said they would consider it a victory to elect even one Eisenhower delegate.

In the preferential poll, Taft looked like a shoo-in over Stassen.

There was no Democratic preference vote. Candidates for the 20-vote delegation, except for one supporter of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, kept silent as to which nominee-candidate they favored.

Officially, delegations of both parties will be uninstructed.

Taft Won 349, Ike 300

Conventions in Wyoming and Rhode Island yesterday revised the Associated Press tabulation of GOP delegate strength to read: Taft 349, Eisenhower 300. Until then it had been: Taft 343, Eisenhower 290.

In Wyoming Taft picked up six delegates against two for Eisenhower. Four others were not committed. But the general got all eight of Rhode Island's votes when the convention there balked at a split with Taft.

See Onyl 100 Uninstructed

In Washington today, Taft told a reporter he believes fewer than 100 delegates will remain uncommitted when the GOP convention opens July 7 in Chicago. However, Wesley Roberts, an Eisenhower leader, said he believes there will be many more than 100 who could go either way.

North Dakota Democrats name 16 delegates with a half - vote each at a convention in Minot today. It appeared likely the eight-vote group would be uninstructed despite a pro-Kefauver movement.

Mrs. Leroy Heerman Hostess to LHM Club

Mrs. Leroy Heerman, Lincoln, was hostess at the May meeting of the LHM Club which met at her home Wednesday, May 7.

Roll call was answered with a gardening hint, at which time Mrs. Stella Frisch suggested to members who were bothered with dogs digging holes under shrubs and in flower gardens to scatter mothballs around that particular area.

Mrs. Lola Wenig reported on the council meeting she attended in Warsaw recently.

Mrs. Edward Kullman and Mrs. Oliver Kreissler presented the lesson "White House Conference for Children" and "Preparing and Serving Meals for 25 People or More."

During the business session the club voted to hold a special work day this fall and collect clothing and food for Mercy Hospital, Kansas City.

A flower seed and bulb exchange was enjoyed and Mrs. Lorenz Kreissler, Mrs. Billie Jaekel and Mrs. Alden Swingle joined the club. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be June 10 with Mrs. Oliver Kreissler.

Self-Employed Must File Schedule C With Income Taxes

Self-employed persons who failed to file schedule C with their 1951 income tax returns are now delinquent with respect to their new social security taxes. This means they are subject to penalties and interest. Furthermore, they are far failing to receive credits toward social security benefits.

"We have every reason to think that the vast majority of self-employed have properly filed the schedule C with the collector of internal revenue in connection with their 1951 income tax return," Scott Webber, manager of the Sedalia social security office said today. "Nevertheless, our public contacts indicate that a considerable number have failed to do so despite widespread publicity that has been given the new provisions of the law by the press," he added. He advises all such delinquent social security taxpayers to file the schedule C immediately with the collector of internal revenue. This will save them trouble and expense and will insure them against future loss of benefits to which they and their families would be entitled.

Central Park Hunt Is Now On for Birds

By JOE WING
(FOR HAL BOYLE)

NEW YORK (AP) — The hunting season is on in Central Park.

This morning and every morning during the annual bird migration time, scores of enthusiasts, armed with binoculars and identification books, prowl the glades of this 862-acre, $800,000,000 bird sanctuary to add new species to their annual lists.

The hunting hasn't been very good. Although the trees are leaved out early, making observation difficult, the migration has been late. The big wave of warblers, due May 10, may not be along for several days.

The bird watchers form a kind of fraternity. They concentrate in the ramble, a brushy area near the American Museum of Natural History, and exchange the pasword, "seen anything good?" as they meet from time to time.

One woman who answered "yes, a Cape May warbler, down that way," was nearly trampled in the rush before she got the words out of her mouth. Cape May warblers are uncommon and not to be missed.

People not in the know think the watchers a little crazy, one of them confessed, although an officer once thought of running a watcher in as a peeping tom.

In the last half century, more than 225 species of birds have been observed in the park, including 38 different kinds of warblers, a snowy owl from the Far North, a dickcissel from the West and a purple gallinule from the South. On just one day, May 10, 1927, a list of 78 was compiled. That's good in any country.

The nice thing about the park, from a bird watcher's viewpoint, is that birds seen there are all on the move. They drop in at night as at an oasis in a bleak wilderness, but find next day it is no place to settle down. So they move on promptly, and their passage can thus be checked accurately.

J. T. Nichols of the American Museum, who has been watching birds in the park since he was a kid in the 90's, doesn't think the hunting as good as it used to be. On the other hand Geoffrey Carleton, author of "Birds of Central Park," calls it one of the best bird watching places in 50 miles.

It's good enough anyway to attract every morning and every lunch hour hundreds of amateur—and professional—bird hobbyists, all hoping for the big day when they can hang up a stupendous record of the number of birds seen or, better still, spot some strange bird that, like many a New Yorker, has found himself where he didn't expect to be.

Smart Plumbing Fittings

If you are in the market for new bathroom fixtures, you will want to consider the new designs that accommodate smartly tooled fittings, including large cut glass style knobs in place of the usual hot and cold water controls.

Old Bloomers and Hose Hold $120,712 In Cash

CHICAGO (AP)—A fortune in cash and securities, all tied up in pink bloomers, stockings and a pillow case, was found yesterday in a safe deposit box owned by an 85-year-old widow who died five months ago.

Officials representing various public agencies found currency—in $1 to $500 bills—totaling $120,712 in the bloomers and stockings. The money in the pillow case will be counted Thursday.

The safe deposit box was rented to the late Mrs. Cora Drapier in 1915. Before she died last Dec. 9 she executed a will leaving virtually all her estate, estimated at $300,000, to her attorney, Pierre J. Peloquin.

Ex-GI Returns Tax Refund Check of $86

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Upstate New Yorker, one of an army of exservicemen who went to school under the G.I. Bil, has sent the government a token of appreciation—his $86.32 tax refund check.

The Agriculture Department, in accepting the gift from William P. Morris Jr. of Conifer, N.Y., said the money will be used, as Morris asked, to further research by its forest products laboratory.

Soviet Religious Leaders Agree Peace Will Be Kept

ZAGORSK, USSR, (AP) — Soviet religious leaders agreed today that although the danger of war hangs over the world, peace will be maintained.

Assembled in this ancient seat of Russian orthodoxy in a hall decorated with pictures of Prime Minister Stalin and white dove symbols of the Communist peace campaign, one church spokesman after another angrily denounced the United States, charging it with imperialist motives and using germ warfare in Korea.

(Speakers ignored denials from the West and the fact that the Communists have refused to permit an investigation of germ warfare charges by the International Red Cross or other neutral agencies.)

The conference of Russian church leaders was called last month by Patriach Alexei of the Russian Orthodox Church for the purpose of "multiplying the efforts of the churches and religious bodies to strengthen world peace."

Rabbi Solomon Schliffer, head of the biggest Jewish community in the Soviet Union suggested an appeal to the United Nations against what he said were American designs on world domination.

"Jews everywhere," he declared, "in the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and other lands should join in this."

Schliffer said that despite the fact the church is separated from the state in the Soviet Union and prelates do not involve themselves in politics, the danger to the world right now is so great that all churchmen and all believers of every faith should speak out.

"In our synagogue we pray for peace every day," he added. He appealed particularly to rabbis in the United States and their communities to condemn the policies of the U. S. government and support peace. "As the representative of the largest Jewish group in the USSR, I urge we appeal to the United Nations against this barbarous use of germ weapons by the American imperialists."

Jacob Zhidkov, head of the Evangelical Baptists in the USSR also appealed to members of the Baptist church in the United States and other lands to join the fight for peace and denunciation of germ warfare.

"We should speak so forcibly in the name of peace that its enemies will have to shut up," Zhidkov said. "It's horrible to think of what has been loosed on the people of Korea and China by other people who profess to be Christians." He urged Baptists abroad to apply pressure on their governments to halt a world arms race and "stop germ warfare."

Sheik Said Ogli, spiritual leader of the Moslems of the Trans Caucasus said he advocated a peace pact signed by the Soviet Union, the United States, China, Britain and France. He called on Moslems everywhere in the world to raise their voices against "american warmongers."

Churches are frowned upon in the Soviet Union, but several thousand remain open. Present church leadership supported the "patriotic" World War II and since then has, on several occasions, backed the Soviet "peace" campaigns. There have been several developments recently to suggest the Kremlin hopes to use the churches in forwarding Soviet aims abroad.

High Point 4-H'ers To Have Scrap Drive

The High Point 4-H Club met May 8 at the home of Diane Smith.

In the absence of the president, Doris Eck was in charge of the meeting. The club decided to have an iron scrap drive Friday morning, June 6, in observance of Rural Life Sunday, the club members will attend church in a body.

Games were enjoyed and refreshments were served by Mrs. Jim Rittman and Mrs. Sam Freund.

At the next meeting the home furnishings project group will give a demonstration and boys who are taking gardening will give a report on their projects.

"I Thought the Gas Gauge was broken"

says Sam Pearce, Seattle, Wash. "If you want pickup, there isn't a car on the road, in any price class, that can beat the Rambler. Yet for economy, the gas gauge goes down so slowly you think it's broken."

IT'S TRUE. Nash Rambler owners are amazed at the sensational mileage they get. This is the car that holds the all-time record in the Mobilgas Economy Run with 31.05 miles per gallon! This in a real "red-hot" performer with so much room inside! This in such a smart and beautifully equipped car—the only car that comes to you with its many custom accessories at no extra cost!

Come see it. Especially, come drive it. Just take five minutes to discover something absolutely new in handling and parking ease . . . and new in performance, too!
